

...because EVERY Child Deserves a Home

Joseph's Hope is a non-profit foundation dedicated to raising money to assist families with adoption expenses.

Named after our two Korean adopted children, Joseph Austin and Natalie Hope, this foundation's primary goal is to provide financial assistance to families currently going through the adoption process. This is a long, tedious and very expensive process, but one that results in a home for an orphaned child.

Due to the rising costs in adoptions, it is becoming more and more difficult for the average American family to fully fund an adoption. Meanwhile, the number of orphaned children world-wide is growing at a rapid pace (there are more than 140 MILLION orphans in the world today). Of course we can't adopt the entire orphaned population, but we can help by providing assistance to families that are willing and able to provide the love and home these children need, but may lack some of the financial resources to complete the process.

Our mission is simple, ...because EVERY Child Deserves a Home, we will do our part to help as many orphaned children find homes as we can.
